

Alerion Aviation Achieves Stage 3 Level of International Standard of Business Aviation Operations

Alerion one of 73 US air Carriers to Achieve Stage 3 Level

TAMPA, FL, November 17, 2017 – Private jet charter and management company, Alerion Aviation, is proud to announce that it has achieved Stage Three of the International Standard for Business Aviation Operations (IS-BAO) – The international “gold standard” for air carriers. Of the 700+ aviation organizations worldwide, there are 479 US operations registered with the IS-BAO. Of that, only 73 US Part 135 air carriers have achieved the Stage Three Level.

“We are extremely proud to have achieved this tremendous accomplishment, reaching Stage Three of the IS-BAO,” said Bob Seidel, chief executive of Alerion Aviation. “This achievement is a testament to our commitment to the safety and security of our clients and our aircraft, and highlights our ongoing mission to remain one of the safest private aircraft carriers in the industry, worldwide.”

IS-BAO is an industry code of best practice that has been developed by the aviation industry for the benefit of the industry. It is the industry’s contribution to promoting highly professional operational practices and is intended to build upon the excellent safety record already established by business aviation.

- Stage One of IS-BAO indicates that an appropriate Safety Management System (SMS) has been established.
- Stage Two may be achieved several years later and ensures that safety risks are being effectively managed.
- Stage Three, the most advanced level, is awarded only when safety management has become a fully engrained part of the company’s culture, and a positive culture of safety management has been sustained over time.
